Station AB-BS.
The Johnsonian broadcasting from Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C.

During the past year the ideals and standards of The Johnsonian have been held high by its splendid editor-in-chief, Bonita Atkinson, and its editorial staff have reflected the attractive, witty style characteristic of her, and have borne the impress of her charming personality. With a sincere desire that The Johnsonian should represent the loyalty and true aims of the student body, Miss Atkinson and her staff of capable assistants have worked hard to put into the columns of the paper the real spirit and purpose of the Winthrop girls. How well this has been done, we all know, and to them we would express our appreciation for the faithful and unexcelled service they have rendered.

Maybe the editorship would not seem such a fearsome thing if it were not for the exalted standard to be maintained, but we are dismayed by the consciousness of our responsibility to fulfill this trust. We call upon each and every student to lend her enthusiasm and interest, to suggest, and to criticize, to help us do our bit to make The Johnsonian stand for the very best and finest in college life—believing that its influence reaches even beyond the college walls and strikes a sympathetic chord in every village and hamlet in South Carolina and far beyond. We pledge our best, a joyous and glad surrender to duty, a pride in our task, and a willingness to serve. That The Johnsonian may worthily represent the life and feeling of the student body is our ambition—our hope.

The old year is finished and the old staff is signed out—the new staff enters upon its duties with the earnest plea that here in "Debe's" "land o' knowledge" everybody will STAND BY.

WELCOME!

Winthrop welcomes to its campus this week-end the high school track teams of the State. It is a pleasure to entertain these high school athletes and their coaches. Each team is assured of a group of enthusiastic Winthrop supporters, who are most interested in the "home team."

For four years, the Physical Education Department of Winthrop has sponsored these State meets. Such annual meets have promoted a spirited competition among the contestants. It has proved an excellent way of encouraging and promoting high school athletics for girls.

Keen interest centers in this track meet. Twenty-one high school teams are registered for the events. Last year the Chester track team "took home the bacon." Who is the winner of the "laurels" for the 1928 State track meet?

An epic flight of 36 1-2 hours westward across the Atlantic, a victorious battle with fog and storms off Newfoundland, and a safe landing on an unknown, remote island off the Labrador coast were described in a brief message received at Halifax from Point Amour, the nearest station to Greenly Island, where the German Junkers' plane Bremen landed last Friday afternoon after its history-making flight.

Coolidge condemned the senatorial control bill as "the most unfortunate proposal that has ever been made upon the nation's revenues."

A statue of Andrew Jackson was recently unveiled in Statuary Hall, in the Capitol. This statue is the gift of Tennessee, and was presented by the Tennessee governor.

SENIORS AND SOPHOMORES
MAKE MERRY AT BALL

(Concluded from page one)
We wish you the very best of luck in everything—
And we know you'll get it!

To the Sophomores
We wish for each of you—
That the remaining years of your college life
Will be even happier than your first two;
And that next year you will get a sister class.

That you live as dearly as we love our sister class of '30.

The Sophs, now followed their cheer leader to the piano, where they sang to the Seniors:

We've been two years together, through laughter and tears together.

Had all our cares together; we've been sisters true—our class and you.

The seniors, ideal together, they will to the end.

You'll be gone—it is true, in a few months—just two; we'll be always with you, together.

The seniors responded to their little sisters:

Way back when you were Freshmen

And we were Juniors, you know, tied our apron strings in a bow, you were adopted you know.

Then again, later, when you were Sophomores, gold and black forever, gold and black together, sisters, we adore.

Then there came today, when we heard you say you were ours alone, dear.

In a little while, your faces behind a smile will begin to hide, dear.

These good old days are going, they are going, never to return again.

We hope you'll never forget to remember—way back when.

The dancing continued until 9:00, when the dancers departed, to dream over the glorious ball.

Reception Tuesday
A reception will be given by the college Tuesday afternoon to the ladies of the State who will be here attending the Presbyterial meeting.

More than a conflict with Mussolini is involved in the recent pronouncements of Pope Pius against Fascism and its control of education in Italy. The issue at stake is the relation of the Vatican to national movements, not only in Italy, but in other countries.

Grus Locher, of Cleveland, comes to Washington as the Democratic senator from Ohio, appointed to fill the place vacated by the death of Senator Willis.

The Doings of the Y's Girls

New President

Ruth Hare, of Florence, is to be the new president of the Y. W. C. A. She has always been very active in Y. W. C. A. work and it is felt that she is well fitted to carry on the work of the association and to maintain its high standards and ideals.

Ruth has been outstanding in all student activities, but she has shown especial ability in Y. W. C. A. work. During the past year she has served as chairman of the conferences and conventions committee. She was also chairman of the committee which arranged for the Winthrop Work Day, which proved to be such a success. She was a Winthrop delegate at the State Student Y. W. C. A. Conference, at Camp Lafa-Lot last fall, and at the Student Volunteer Conference in Detroit, during the Christmas vacation. When in high school she was president of the Florence Girl Reserve Club.

As soon as the other officers of the Y. W. C. A. are elected, the new cabinet will be appointed.

Interest Groups

Dr. Holmes led the first interest group this week on "A Christian Basis for Moral Standards." There was a large attendance and the discussion was much enjoyed by all those who heard it.

Finance

At the present date the Y. W. C. A. has collected $2,159.50 of the $2,000 pledged. Slowly we are approaching the amount which was promised. At the gift service last Wednesday night $45.70 was given. Can't we settle this thing right away and do away with this slow motion giving?

Freshman Commissioners

The Freshman Commissioners have taken for the topic of their final discussion for the year a platform of every-day Christianity on the campus, in which they put one plank every week. At each Monday afternoon meeting they are discussing one of the qualities that will help strengthen campus Christianity. So far they have taken charity, honesty and respect—respect for yourself, for others, for laws, and for institutions.

Plans for a discussion on one of these subjects are made at the meetings of the Freshman Commissioners and then the following Thursday after study period each commissioner leads a discussion of that subject in her own Freshman group. Each week the Freshman try to observe the quality discussed for that week. Everyone is much interested in it.

Governor Smith, of New York, was elected Tuesday to the Democracy of the nation by formal resolution of the party of his own State as a candidate for the nomination for president and as the natural leader of all the progressive people of the nation.

The Many Occasions Which Will Precede and Follow

"The Speckled Band"

We know where Conan Doyle got the name for that hair-raising tale. He saw that smart hat which caught our eye—National Ballbunt! with a brown and tan speckled band.

"Robin's Egg"

Well, not quite, but milady's latest acquisition is a choker of large turquoise beads which look for all the world like tiny blue eggs.

"Opposites Attract"

So they say, perhaps that is Chanel's reason for combining tailored severity and soft femininity in one and the same article.

White Kids

For Graduation

New, smart and decidedly different. White Kid Shoes styled as fashion dictates, every size and width. Priced $12.50.

"A Dazzling Mode"

The silver spangled kerchief for the black evening dress reiterates its importance and has become a decided and sparkling note where smart Parisians foregather.

"A Civil War"

Either that, or just one of those contradictions so delightfully woman-like. Fashion authorities decree that milady's clothes shall be entirely feminine and at the same time bewilder us by stressing the vogue of the pyjama ensemble.

"Square Headed"

We hope not, for certainly one would not care to have such an unflattering epithet applied to one's self, but square necked is quite another thing; to be that is to achieve the utmost in chic.

For Graduation

And all summer wear. White kids created and sponsored by master designers. Sizes and widths for every foot—$12.50.

SECOND INTEREST GROUP TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

"Well, it ain't her fault. She just wasn't cut out for a teacher." Were you? Do you know that you are going to make a greater success in the teaching profession than you would in any other? Do you want to be a teacher more than anything else?

Teaching isn't the only occupation into which a college diploma may lead you. If you are interested in knowing whether you are "just the type" who will make a good teacher, or whether your peculiar endowments would be more valuable in some other field, come to Johnson Hall at 4 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Dean Scudder will help you to find the particular occupational hole into which you will fit best.

FORMER WINTHROP STUDENT IS HONORED AT COMPOSERS' HOUR

At the Federation of Music Clubs held in Orangeburg last week, Miss Elizabeth Gaines, of Columbia, a former Winthrop student, who is pleasantly remembered here, was honored at the Composers' Hour. This recognition is significant in that Miss Gaines was the only college student receiving honorable mention with many prominent music composers of the State.

DORSEY WHITTINGTON IS BRILLIANT PIANIST

He had appeared formally in concert tours all through the West. Musical Career. Since his presentation in New York by his devoted pupils, Mr. Whittington has delighted audiences in all parts of America and Europe. He has continued in the dual role of performing artist and teacher. Himself a graduate of the Institute of Musical Art, he taught four years in that school. Besides the large classes which he maintained continuously in New York up until the past two years, he has held master classes in New York city, Woodstock, N. Y., Briarcliff, London, England, and Winthrop College. Within the past year he has also taught in Jacksonville, Fla., and in Paris, France.

Mr. Whittington returned to this country last January from Europe, where, with his wife, he appeared at concerts in England, France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland and other countries. While abroad, the artist established his headquarters at Paris, in which city he conducted a class in piano for four months. Immediately following his return Mr. Whittington held a master class in Jacksonville, Fla. This class, originally planned to last six weeks, was, by special request of the pupils, extended to twelve.

During the present season Mr. Whittington has been appearing in two-piano concerts, in which he is assisted by his wife, who is also an accomplished musician.

Wife Too Good a Pupil to Lose. Four years ago Mr. Whittington discovered in pretty, vivacious Frances Kohlborn the "perfect pupil."

His meeting with Miss Kohlborn was purely professional. He was judge in a contest in which the gifted girl won first place and was awarded a scholarship to the Institute of Musical Art. Later she became one of his students. At first he believed his interest in her to be based entirely upon her musical ability, but one day he discovered that beneath the professional interest ran another and much deeper interest.

"She was such a good pupil that I didn't want any other teacher to get her," he declares enthusiastically. Therefore, in order to keep her forever, he married her. But she has been more than a "good pupil." With her vivid Hungarian beauty, her charming spontaneity, and her sympathetic understanding of her husband's work, she has proved a valuable partner to him. With no one else would Mr. Whittington have left his large classes in New York when he was invited to give concerts in distant cities. To no one else could he entrust so important a share of his present pupils.

Will Conduct Third Master Class at Winthrop

For the past two years Mr. Whittington has conducted a Master Class in Music at Winthrop Summer School. Pupils from all parts of the country have been enrolled in this class during each of the sessions. Winthrop feels peculiarly fortunate to have secured the artist's services for the coming summer. This is the only class of its kind so far offered at any college in the South. It is fitting that it should have as its leader a musician of the universally recognized worth of Dorsey Whittington.
